

Description

The aim of this module is to encourage and reward students who devote time to others and to school life.

The following list gives examples of activities for which points are awarded:

- Represent the school at fairs, forums, high schools, etc.
- Participate in Open Days
- Represent class delegates and elected representatives on school councils
- Participate in school competitions
- Participate in school associations
- Tutor (between students or hosting foreign students)

This list is non-exhaustive and may change according to school activities and events, or upon students' suggestions.

Assessment methods

A points system has been set up and will be revised each year according to the activities of the school and its students. This module can also be validated if students carry out certain activities or have certain commitments, as listed below: volunteer work, elected office, professional activity, high-level sportsman or artist, military activity, volunteer fireman, civic service...

The aim is for students to obtain 10 points during their 2 years of master's studies.
